Bob Campbell

Personal Safety

- Medications
 - Don't forget!
- First Aid
 - A personal kit is a good idea
- Dress
 - Prepare for high daytime temps, low nighttime temps if at high altitude site
 - Proper shoes/boots if duties include antenna setup, routing power cabling from generator(s) in off-site locations
- Food/Water
 - Bring plenty if not provided

Critter Safety

Applicable for Mountain/Desert Sites

- Take standard precautions for poisonous snake avoidance.
 - Know what you're stepping into!
 - Avoid stepping over rocks/logs into an out-of-sight area
 - If snakes are in hiding and awaiting lunch, it's unlikely they'll rattle when confronted...they'll just strike!
- Insect repellent is a good idea
 - Mosquitoes, bees, wasps, etc

Physical Strain Safety

- Do not attempt to lift, pull, push more than you'd do at home.
 - Use leg, arm muscles as opposed to stressing back
